

SAFETY A PRIORITY AT NAMDEB

Safety is Namdeb's priority value and to entrench this message further, a safety Omugongo was held yesterday (Thursday, 8 February 2018) which was attended by Line Managers and Supervisors. The focus of the discussions was centred around safety leadership in the business. During the session, both Namdeb CEO, Riaan Burger and acting COO, Jurgen Jacob, shared their respective safety pledges with the forum thereby demonstrating a very clear personal commitment to putting safety first in the business. The forum had various discussions and made suggestions on how to increase the level of safety awareness in the business and on tangible actions steps to ensure safe operations during times of change as the business is experiencing for various reasons.

Other topics discussed included the correlation between wellness and safety and the importance of doing proper planning before executing a critical task.

The session was highly interactive and generated a number of safety related ideas which will be shared with all employees in due course

An emphatic call was made to all to ensure that everyone returns home safely everyday by putting safety first.
